

Title: piRNAs and Genome Methylation in Blood Cell Lineages

IRB# 2010-010

Principal Investigator: David I. Martin, MD

Synopsis:

This study compares certain marks ("cytosine methylation") on the DNA of human blood cells, and the presence of small RNAs termed piRNAs in those cells. Comparison of marks and piRNAs in different cell types may reveal how the piRNAs regulate formation of blood cell types.